“The St. James Hotel & Club in London located at 7-8 Park Place is conveniently located close to Piccadilly Square, theaters, and Buckingham Palace. Patrice and I stayed 3 nights at the St. James Hotel & Club a reciprocal club to our Green Boundary. The accommodations were perfect, the service impeccable, all delivered by an attentive, courteous, and friendly staff. We highly recommend this reciprocal club to our fellow GBC members who may be planning a visit to London.”

"I enjoy traveling and taking advantage of the reciprocal clubs offered through my membership at The Green Boundary Club. We are fortunate to have access to some of the best clubs in the world."

-Cody Anderson (1/15/20)

“November 2019, I contacted Green Boundary to request assistance in making a reservation in December at the Nassau Club in Princeton, NJ. The Nassau Club is one of many reciprocal clubs available to GB members . Nichole Woodward graciously handled the arrangements. As a dining and social club with an air of dignity and character, the Nassau Club is similar to GB. The staff at the Nassau Club was welcoming, dining great, the room spacious and well appointed, and the club situated in the heart of Princeton. I recommend the Nassau Club and the Reciprocal Club program to members of GB. Thank you, Steve Briggs, for your efforts in making this benefit possible for GB members.”

“We recently had dinner with two friends at the Palmetto Club in Columbia. We combined it with a trip to the Columbia Museum of Art. It was a great experience. We had cocktails at their beautiful bar before and had dinner in the newly renovated Tap Room which was very comfortable. The food was delicious and well presented. We would recommend the Palmetto Club highly if you are looking for a place to dine when in Columbia. Having access to these reciprocal clubs is a great benefit. So far we have gone to Palmetto Club and Springdale Hall in Camden. We plan on taking more advantage of this benefit in the future.”

“Indee and I hosted rehearsal dinners for our sons at reciprocals - University Club - Santa Barbara in July and Detroit Club in September- and both were excellent experiences! From our perspective, the reciprocal benefit at clubs such as these is a HUGE reason for our GBC membership!”

University Club of Santa Barbara (Santa Barbara, CA)

“In July of 2019 we hosted a rehearsal seated dinner for 70 and a cocktail party for 140. We used the beautiful outside grounds for both events. The staff were very helpful both in planning and execution of both events. Parking is available and the club's location was in walking distance to our host hotels.”

Detroit Club (Detroit, MI)

“In September of 2019 we hosted a seated dinner for 55 and a cocktail party for 100 in the Grand Ball Room of the club. The food was great for our seated dinner! We also conveniently stayed upstairs in all 10 of the bedrooms having access to the small spa, cigar room and all formal living areas. Having the opportunity to take family photos in the club was a unique benefit. The staff were all very welcoming and helpful the entire 4 days. The history of the club was also a BIG hit with our guests. Photos of their beautiful grand ballroom are attached.”

My wife and I feel it is important to share time with our children one on one. I have been blessed to be able to bring my youngest daughter to visit her cousin in Indianapolis last Summer (Columbia Club), and then again to take my oldest to visit last fall. Their cousin has a new born and it was so very rewarding to take family time to visit. The whole process was so easy and seamless. From the moment I reached out to staff at the GBC I was able to book my stay with ease. Upon our arrival we were treated with such respect and shown appreciation that I felt personally was more than others received. It was truly an enjoyable experience. I will seek out reciprocal clubs for all my future travel. This is truly a wonderful asset for our membership.

My husband and I stayed at the Royal Scots Club in Edinburgh this past summer and enjoyed it very much. The location is great, easy walking distance to everything. It is not in the old section of the city but close to the national museum and across the street from a lovely garden. The club is old fashioned and has the charm of an old military club. The breakfast was very nice and the rooms were large and comfortable, although not updated or new in the least. This is NOT a hotel, and therefore does not have the same kind of luxuries that might be expected in a hotel. But it makes up for it with charm. The reception was very pleasant and easy. We arrived by car and the parking was a bit annoying. Its far and we had a bit of trouble finding the underground parking entrance due to construction in the city. And then there's the walk back to the club, usually in the rain :-)) I do still recommend the club if you're looking for something a bit more authentic than the local hotels.

We are delighted by the GBs new list of reciprocals. For us, as we travel quite a bit, it makes the journey more interesting. Aside for the lower cost of clubs, in general, its a great way to get an insiders view of a city.

While in Washington DC we went to the Metropolitan club and the Cosmos Club. We had a VIP reception at both clubs. You should keep them on the list!

We visited the University Club for dinner twice while summering in RI. Great dinning room and chef. Treated very well. Have also used the Cattleman's Club in Tulsa. I appreciate the access to other clubs that my GBC membership affords me.

We spent two night at the Quadrangle Club in a suite. The Club is in a quiet neighborhood near the University of Chicago. The club building and facilities were very attractive. The staff were all friendly and helpful. The Club is very near the Frank Lloyd Wright designed Robie House, which we enjoyed visiting. The Club is about a 15 minute taxi ride from downtown Chicago and significantly less expensive with more room than the hotels downtown. We would definitely stay at the Quadragle Club on our next visit to Chicago.
